

THE GAZETTE.

SATURDAY AUGUST 20.

The easiest and the best way to get rid of Mrs. Wilbur Story, who is anxious to obtain control of the Chicago Times, is to let her have it for one season. She would then yield with all the womanly grace possible.

The Ohio democrats have adopted a free trade plank, and Virginia democrats a protective plank. In the campaign next year the democratic idea will be "every man for himself," while the republicans will carry the day.

Jay Gould has closed a contract with responsible parties to build the Mexican National Railroad from Saltillo to San Luis Potosi, a distance of 350 miles, within twelve months from date. The opening of this road will furnish a new route from Texas to the City of Mexico.

Mr. Cleveland's managers will probably secure larger crowds for him in his Western trip if they advertise it as "positively his farewell tour."—New York Tribune.

There is no use advertising the far-west business. The people know of a certainty that it will be the president's last swing around the circle.

The Bull family will hold a reunion at Cochen, New York, August 31. Representative Bulls from all over the United States will be present, and probably some from Ireland. The reunion of the Bull family in Wisconsin will be held two weeks later than the foregoing date, and will take place in Milwaukee.

Certainly Higgins must go; the only question is shall he go now, with a small and select escort of his own kindred, or shall he wait for the whole democratic party to go with him?—Springfield Republican.

What! is the Republic an, the chief of magnum, also hanging its harp on the willow and predicting that the whole democratic party must go? Verily the lot of the magnum party is a hard one.

Mr. D. M. Bannister, who has recently returned from Houston, Texas, where he has been engaged in the construction of the new capital building, gives the following interesting hint as to Texas election methods: At Austin, during the last election, the vote was unanimous republican, but when the ballot was closed six men armed with revolvers broke into the room, smashed the ballot box, and scattered the ballots, and the result was that district was thrown out.

A dispatch from Helena says that workmen on the line of the Minnesota & Northwestern road unearthed a portion of the skeleton of a mastodon near Helena Thursday. Most of the bones were badly decayed but Dr. Wm. Kniton, of Elizabeth, secured a tooth of the monster. The tooth is about five inches long and four inches in width and it weighs seven pounds. The enamel of the tooth is still perfect. A huge tusk about six inches in diameter and several feet in length was discovered, but it was badly decayed.

The biographical sketches of Lyman C. Draper and Mortimer Melville Jackson, which first appeared in the Magazine of Western History for January of this year, have been republished in one volume, with the accompanying steel portraits, by David Atwood, of Madison. Dr. Draper has been for many years the head of the Wisconsin state historical society, and is one of the few great authorities on early American history. Mr. Jackson was attorney-general of Wisconsin territory, and afterwards circuit and supreme court judge. From 1861 to 1880 he filled the important post of consul at Halifax, Nova Scotia, and for the two following years was consul general to the Maritime Provinces.

A cablegram comes from Paris which shows how finely Mr. Blaine cutivated a newspaper correspondent. A Chicago newspaper man was especially instructed to keep up with Mr. Blaine and send everything to the discredit of the ex-senator that he could invent or find. This reporter has not seen Mr. Blaine for a fortnight. The latter gave him the slip in Scotland, and was always one day ahead of him in Ireland. Mr. Blaine is traveling so quietly that it is almost impossible for any one to follow without information from some of Mr. Blaine's personal friends. The correspondent who passed through London last Saturday to the continent, just hunting for Mr. Blaine, although the latter was in London until yesterday, stopping at Brown's Hotel, in Dover street, one of the quietest places in London.

The current number of Harper's Weekly contains an editorial from the pen of George William Curtis, in which he declares that the republican party is not a party of reform. Three years ago Mr. Curtis said it was a party of great reform, but this was said before he became a democrat. In the editorial referred to Mr. Curtis asks this question: "What acts of the kind in the administration of Grant, Hayes or Arthur is comparable with the reappointment of the postmaster of New York?"

This is the question of a demagogue, and a man who has sold his political principles for $10,000 a year. Doesn't Mr. Curtis know that General Grant appointed a Meesby to a Chief consulates and has he so soon forgotten that President Hayes made a postmaster general out of an ex-rebel who did not vote the republican ticket? Mr. Cleveland did not re-appoint Pearson postmaster because he was a republican, he re-appointed him because the democrats could not agree on their man. There are facts that should attract the attention of Mr. Curtis. But while working under the whip and spur, facts and consistency do not concern Mr. Curtis.

A democratic sheet in Rock county which is noted for its historical and biographical scenery, devotes its leading editorial article of this morning to some pulverizing remarks concerning Senator Sargent, of California. It says in relation to Senator Sargent's evidence before the Pacific railroad commission, that he is a "scalp-trader witness"—that he belongs to a nest of boodlers—that he should be taught a lesson, &c., &c. This is all very touching and most excellent, and the trivial fact that Senator Sargent has not been a witness in this investigation, and the further trivial fact that he has been dead for a week and therefore out of the jurisdiction of the present Higgins-reform administration, will not interfere with the zeal of the afore-said sheet to have Senator Sargent punished for sins he never committed. If the murder of Mr. and Mrs. Search furnishes food for moral reflection and editorial and grandiloquence for more than a year, it is not to be expected that a person as important as Senator Sargent can be satisfactorily disposed of in less than a decade.

The State Journal says there has been filed with the superintendent of public instruction a claim of $3,076.67 for Milwaukee county against the state, as remuneration for teaching deaf mutes under the laws of 1855 and the amendment of 1857, which makes provision for the education of such pupils by the counties in which they reside. Counties so instructing their own mutes receive from the state $100 for each pupil so taught 180 days of the year, with not less than five hours' session each day. For pupils taught less than this number of days and hours the county receives a proportionate amount of the $100. The report shows that during the school year in Milwaukee five teachers were employed in this work and thirty-five pupils were instructed. For the year ending June 30, 1886, under the laws of 1855, Milwaukee county received only $1,875.56. La Crosse county also has a claim of a similar character for $342.50. These are the only counties that have as yet attempted the instruction of resident deaf mutes. The law of 1855 makes such provision for the teaching of deaf mutes, but it is a very unnecessary one, and is an expensive method of giving deaf mutes an education. The instruction is not as thorough as that given at the state school, while the cost is very much greater. The law was enacted two years ago more to further the private interests of a certain few than to give deaf mutes an education.

A book of much value to students of American political history has just been published and is the work of Charles A. O'Neill, of New York. Beginning with a summary of the debates in the convention which framed the constitution as to the method of choosing a president, it gives the history of each election from the first choice of Washington down to the present day, including the complications which arose on various occasions as to defective returns, the way in which the votes should be counted and the result declared, etc. Mr. O'Neill has also given the different methods of choosing electors which prevailed at an early day—by legislature, by district, and by general tickets, not omitting instances where party feeling, keener of old than now, resorted to expedients which would hardly be justified by any one at this day. The writer has succeeded in collecting an amount of material on this special subject which has hitherto been buried in newspaper files, private letters, and local histories, and has made an exceedingly valuable digest, written without bias and well indexed. No one can appreciate the weakness and defects of the electoral system, even as it now stands, until he has read the story of our various presidential elections as told by Mr. O'Neill.

PERSONAL NOTES.

Mrs. Rogers is the cattle queen of Texas and is said to be worth $1,000,000. Her husband is a preacher, and Mrs. Rogers looks after the business end. Mr. Foster, ex-minister to Madrid, coincides with other well-informed observers that Indiana will go republican next year whomever the party nominate for president.

Ex-Governor Hoadly, of Ohio, is going to build a $40,000 residence in New York. He has recovered quickly from his alleged bankruptcy through the operations of Archbishop Purcell's assignee.

Charles Sumner was a great consumer of candy, being especially fond of chocolate cream, and held that as long as he could eat candy his digestion was in excellent order. He never smoked, and never tasted of whisky but area.

Miss Josie Barnard, a Lowell heiress, was married to her grandmother's coachman a year or two ago. She now finds herself reduced to destitution, and has just returned from Lowell to Providence on a ticket furnished by the overseers of the poor.

W. M. Featherly, editor of the An-Sable, (Michigan) Monitor, has been whipped seven times and laid eight ribs out in five years. When newspaper life ceases to be sufficiently exciting in An-Sable, Mr. Featherly can join the editorial brethren in El Paso, Texas.

Henry Alexander Cooper, formerly a circus giant, but now a saloonkeeper in Buffalo, is the tallest man in the United States. He is eight feet two inches in height and weighs 350 pounds. His hand is thirteen inches and his foot seventeen inches long. He does not find it necessary to employ a "bouncer" in his saloon.

Colorado, the Ute Chief who is making the disturbance in Colorado, is an enormous old savage weighing 360 pounds. He is what is known in baseball slang as a "kicker." He has never been satisfied with the government, and has been more or less rebellious all his life. He used to visit Denver very often, and on one occasion went to Gov. McCook's office and became rather insolent. Gov. McCook kicked Colorado out of his office and down a flight of stairs into the street.

LABOR'S CHOICE.

The United Labor Party of New York Selects a Ticket.

HENRY GEORGE'S NAME AT THE HEAD.

The Other Candidates—Synopsis of the Platform—Steps Taken to Organize a New Party by Socialists and Anti-Georgists.

NEW YORK'S LABOR CONVENTION. ST. LOUIS, N. Y., Aug. 20.—After a long and stormy session Thursday night the United Labor party of New York selected a ticket for the coming year. The platform was reported to the convention yesterday morning by Henry George and immediately adopted. The old platform adopted at the Hamilton Hall meeting last year was taken as the groundwork for the new platform and enlarged to suit the necessities of a State campaign. A few of the planks of the platform of the old Greenwich Village party are also used. One of the principal of these favored far establishment, of postal banks and a postal telegraph system. After a very spirited debate it was decided to openly oppose the Socialist organization, but as a compromise a plank was used opposing State and public control of any subject which is not a matter of public concern. A full State ticket was put in nomination as follows:

Secretary of State, Henry George, of New York; Comptroller, Victor A. Wilder, of Kings; State Treasurer, H. H. Cummings, of Monticello; Attorney-General, Dennis C. Wesley, of Monroe; State Engineer and Surveyor, Sylvanus A. Sweet, of Oneida.

Among the resolutions adopted was the following: "That, in view of the near approach of the National election, this convention joins with the brethren of the West in requesting the chairman of our State Committee to co-operate with the land and labor committee to issue a call for a National conference of such organizations of citizens of other States as may be disposed to meet in connection with the United Labor party of New York in forming a national platform."

Resolutions were also adopted denouncing the railway monopolies for discriminating against small shippers and demanding the passage of a law to suppress this injustice; favoring eight hours work for laborers; women equality; extending the school age in children from fourteen to sixteen years; in favor of free public libraries; a State printing department; the Australian system of a secret ballot; the prohibition of the employment of armed detectives; denouncing class legislation and the misappropriation of the public funds.

After the exclusion of the Socialist delegation from the New York convention, delegates, two of the delegates from the Twelfth New York City district and six from Onondaga County, besides a number of delegates from various localities, vacated their seats and in the evening active efforts are being put forth by the Socialists to organize a new party in which they will have the co-operation of active anti-George influences. Their purpose is to begin their movement in the shape of New York City, and extend to include the whole State. Trades unions will be invited to join with what shall be known as the organized labor movement, whose ranks shall be free to join irrespective of socialist or labor factions.

ITS LAST DOLLAR GONE.

The Great State of Indiana Without a Cent in the General Fund—The Committee to Re-ask for Advances. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 20.—The financial embarrassments of Indiana are growing more and more serious. The last dollar in the general fund of the State Treasury was paid out yesterday, and there are no resources that can be drawn upon before next December. In the meantime $200,000 will be needed to pay the current expenses of the State Government and public institutions. Treasurer Lusk announces that he will call upon the counties to advance funds, but if they do so it will be voluntary, as the law will not require them to respond to such calls when they owe the State nothing. One effect of the exhaustion of the treasury will be the suspension of work upon all State institutions, of which several are now in course of erection. The condition of the treasury is due to the failure of the last General Assembly to make needed appropriations.

DAMAGED BY STORMS.

MINNESOTA AND DAKOTA WHEAT REACHED—Estimates of the Yield. ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 20.—Crop reports to the Pioneer Press represent that the late storms have resulted in considerable damage to wheat, more particularly to blanching. Some sprouting is also reported. The greater portion of the damage in both Minnesota and Dakota has been south of the Hastings & Dakota railroad, where the grain is now in the stack and threshing is somewhat delayed. Conservative estimates place this year's crop of Minnesota and Dakota at 80,000,000 bushels—considered a low estimate. The barley crop in Southern Minnesota is better than anticipated.

Mrs. Hick's Body Found. ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 20.—The missing body of Mrs. Hick, of Chillicothe, who was killed in the Chicago disaster, was found yesterday. It had been buried by mistake at Eureka in place of the body of Mrs. Clay. The remains were recovered, and the unidentified corpse was fully recognized as Mrs. Clay by relatives last evening.

To Build a Short Line. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 20.—The project for the construction of a railroad from Marion, Ind., to this city, a distance of sixty-one miles, has been revived with very favorable prospects. When built, the road will be operated in connection with the Toledo, Cincinnati & St. Louis.

The Cholera. LONDON, Aug. 20.—At Malta during the last twenty-four hours there have been fourteen new cases of cholera and nine deaths.

The First Frost. EAST TAYLOR, N. Y., Aug. 20.—A heavy white frost yesterday morning did considerable damage to vines in this vicinity.

THE SUN ECLIPSED.

No News from Uncle Sam's Observers in Japan—The Phenomenon in European Cities.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—No news has been received from Prof. Todd, who went to Japan to make observations of the eclipse of the sun of yesterday.

In that country the eclipse was expected to be total, and great preparations were made to observe it. The expedition from the United States is under the joint auspices of the Navy Department, which loaned the ship Albatross, and the trustees of the Bache fund of the National Academy of Science, who appropriated $2,000 for the expenses of the expedition. Prof. David Todd is in charge of the expedition.

LONDON, Aug. 20.—Astronomers throughout Europe took notes of the solar eclipse yesterday. The Russian observers of the eclipse obtained numerous drawings and photographs of the solar corona. At the Belgian station, on the Voie, the sky was overcast, but the prominences and chromosphere were observed. The corona was invisible. At Vienna clouds obscured the view. BOSTON, Aug. 20.—There was an eclipse of the sun yesterday. The sky was overcast, and the sun was invisible. The eclipse was preceded by the appearance of many dark, dark-colored clouds. The color increased as the sun rose, but gradually faded, whereupon general darkness suddenly set in. Clouds of increased depth colored returned after a few minutes, and then daylight appeared. Thousands of people came to Berlin by the railway and in carriages from different points to observe the phenomenon.

THE NEBRASKA CYCLONE. Republican City Damaged $50,000—Additional Details of the Storm.

REPUBLICAN CITY, Neb., Aug. 20.—The storm which struck this place Thursday night was the worst ever seen in this part of the State. The large brick school house, just about finished, was completely wrecked. Seven carpenters were caught in the ruins. Five were seriously injured, and two were seriously wounded. J. J. Downing, a highly respected young man of this place, and A. S. Allen, of Alma, Neb., foreman of the gang, were killed. Lanning was a single man, Allen being married. The demolition of the Methodist Normal school was badly damaged, the whole north side of the upper story being blown in. The house of H. S. Webber, a printer, was completely blown away, burying his wife and two children in the debris and badly injuring a son. A number of other residences were more or less injured, outbuildings were prostrated, fences blown down, and together with the contents of butcher-yards, scattered over the town. The storm generally presents a desolated condition. The storm lasted fully twenty-five minutes, a straight, hard hail, accompanied by heavy rain and hail, the hail breaking windows on the north and east sides of houses. The loss to the city and vicinity at rough figures will reach $50,000.

RIDDLEBERGER'S FRIENDS.

Six of Them Indicted for Rescuing the Virginia statesman from jail. WOODBRIDGE, Va., Aug. 20.—The grand jury yesterday brought in an indictment against six persons for misdemeanor in rescuing Senator Riddleberger from jail. The penalty under the indictment is six months in jail and a fine not exceeding $500. A lively time at the trial is anticipated. An indictment was returned against Deputy Sheriff Hotel, who was in jail with Senator Riddleberger the night of the rescue. The grand jury of the party and the liberation of the senator from jail. The indictment will make it go hard with the deputy sheriff. Senator Riddleberger said to a friend this evening that he would call out the court by legal means. He will probably appoint a counsel for the defense on the trial of the parties indicted for rescuing him.

All Quiet at Meeker. DENVER, Col., Aug. 20.—Advices from Meeker say that the militia companies have not yet arrived here. The Indians are quarantined in the neighborhood, evidently waiting for the whites to open the ball. It is reported that Colerick's band has been increased by recruits from the Southern Utes, Sioux, Cheyenne and Crow reservations. There are now numbers in the neighborhood of 400. The rumor that Rindell with fifteen men were attacked Thursday has not been confirmed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—It is claimed at the War Department that no official dispatch has been received on which to base a report of a serious outbreak of the White River tribe.

Talk of Re-Electing General Patterson. MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 20.—Owing to the political attacks which have been made on General Patterson, it was rumored yesterday that a movement was on foot to secure his re-election as Grand Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic.

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 20.—The Maine fishermen are unanimous in their approval of the capture of the Albatross, of the North Atlantic squadron, for which they were captured by Secretary Whitney. They declared that his actions have been misrepresented, and that the information he furnished the fishing fleet in the Gulf of St. Lawrence was true and correct. It enabled the captain to know just what to expect of the Canadian authorities.

"I WANT MY MA."

This was what Althea Hagan, a prisoner.

"I'll never let you see me any more! Just let me go this one time, please, Mr. Hogan! My mamma said I wasn't home by six o'clock she'd speak me!" Thus and a dozen other plaintive wails made people around the railroad yesterday afternoon wonder what was happening.

An explanation was readily found. Marshal Hogan's patrol wagon stood on Academy street, occupied by two third of a boy's kindergarten, while the marshal was dodging around after two or three stragglers. This was where the noise came from.

For some time the youngsters have been strolling round on fruit cake with regard either for life or limb. Complaint was made to the marshal and he started on a raid with good results. He finally let the dog go again, and to-day they avoided freight cars as if someone inside had the small pot. Only one or two would even come within half a block of the track.

ITS GOOSE SEEMS COOKED.

The Chances For Not Having A New School Building This Year Are Good.

Most of the Commissioners Appear to Be Overcome by Too Much Heater.

From all indications the new second ward school house will not come until spring. This will be so unless the council takes very decisive steps. A meeting of the school board was held last night to decide on a system of heating. Without information on this point to architect could make such figures as were needed.

It was found that steam would cost $1,500, the kerosene system of hot-air furnaces, with dry-air closets included, $1,400, the Boynton system, without dry-air closets $1,375, the Hess system, without dry-air closets, $1,115, and the Fuller, Warren & Co's system, without closets $1,000.

Commissioner Holloway finally moved that the board recommend for the second ward school building hot-air furnaces and a system of dry-air closets.

Commissioner Wilson moved to amend, by substituting steam for that of hot air. His amendment was lost by a vote of four to three, the original motion being adopted. Commissioners Sutherland, Holloway, Motzall and Steveson, voted yes, while Commissioners Judd, Keefe and Wilson, voted no.

After this the discussion turned upon particular makes of furnaces, and that of Fuller, Warren & Company was adopted by the same vote. The firm agrees to heat the building perfectly at all times or refund the money.

Commissioners Judd, Wilson and Keefe, are still dissatisfied with the decision made and will probably send in a minority report. "I feel certain," said one of the three, "that the council will be in favor of steam."

"The thing that the council is most likely to do," remarked Commissioner Holloway, "is to knock the whole thing right in the head."

Other commissioners seem to fear just about what Commissioner Holloway does, but each lays the blame for the trouble on some one else.

BUILDING ASSOCIATION.

Report of The Secretary of The Loan Association of Janesville.

The second quarterly report of Mr. A. P. Burnham, secretary of the above organization was presented to the directors at their regular monthly session last evening. The essential figures of the report are as follows:

Number of shareholders..... 320
Number of shares issued..... 2125
Number of shares owned..... 1915
Number of shares held by the association..... 110
Average amount per cent..... $574
Total amount paid in..... $63,160
Average of loans..... 700

These figures make a very creditable showing for a society only six months old, and the report does not include the third series which has just been opened.

It is a recognized fact that it is always a labor of some difficulty to start any new enterprise in Janesville, and it is not improbable that this fact speaks for, rather than against the substantial and conservative character of its people.

Experience in all parts of the country have clearly shown the safety and usefulness of these building associations, and yet the labor which has been given to developing them in this city has resulted in a society much larger and stronger than the one now in existence here. To comparison to the slow growth and standing of this association, a statement of the condition and prosperity of a similar organization at Dayton, Ohio, will not be uninteresting. That city contains about 5,000 people and it has a building association which is surpassed in magnitude by perhaps only one similar association in the country. It has a roll of 5,100 members—over ten percent of the entire population—a similar ratio in Janesville would give a membership of more than 1,000 instead of 270. The Dayton society disburses $20,000 weekly or a million dollars per annum, the greater part of which vast sum goes for the erection of houses for working men. The association in Dayton is looked upon as a public good and has the earnest and substantial support of the people of all classes and ages.

MORE REMINISCENCES.

Janesville's Early Congregationalists, and What They Accomplished.

The Congregationalists were not far behind other christian workers in the early revival of religious interests in Janesville. Perhaps they heard a Missionary cry from the pioneer missionaries in the field. There was need enough for combined religious and temperance work. One of the oldest inhabitants is responsible for the following statement: "Old time was as cheap as water and no one thought of closing saloons on Sunday. When floor was twenty dollars a barrel and pork thirty dollars a barrel it was sometimes inconvenient to pay the preacher's salary, but he never hungered or wanted to bed suppers, though his purse was empty."

Rev. C. H. Bailey commenced stated preaching here February 11th, 1845. At this time the First Congregational church of Janesville was organized. The number entering into covenant were fifteen. Among the names found upon the records of 1845, and a few years thereafter, are the following: Mr. and Mrs. J. Spaulding, Mr. and Mrs. L. Cheesbrough, Mrs. L. Culver, Mrs. E. Strunk, Mrs. S. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Wright, Mrs. Jeffries. Of the other members of the church but two are living. Mrs. L. S. Culver and Mrs. E. Strunk. The oldest member in the church is Mr. Josiah Wright, who has reached the venerable age of 83 years. The first baptism is recorded September 6th, 1845. Emma Elsworth Spaulding, child of Mr. and Mrs. Spaulding.

Rev. L. Foote filled the pastoral office for a number of years, commencing his labors in 1845. His genial sympathy and kindly interest in the welfare of the public schools, was one of the pleasant memories of those who look back to the old Academy as an Alma Mater.

During the year 1850 a house of worship was constructed and in the following year an addition was made to its length. The entire cost was $4,500. A more commodious edifice was erected subsequently which was destroyed by fire in 1875. The approximate valuation of church property is $30,000.

The following is a list of pastors of this society: Rev. O. B. Bulkeley, H. Foote, W. C. Schofield, M. P. Kiley, G. W. Merwin, F. B. Norton, L. Whitely, G. Williams, T. P. Sawin, D. P. Davis, E. Van Vazer, H. A. Minor, S. P. Wilder.

A large amount of quiet but efficient work has been accomplished by the Ladies' Aid Society of which Mrs. J. F. Wright is President.

The large and prosperous Sunday school is in charge of W. S. Jeffries, Supr., assisted by an active corps of teachers.

The musical portion of the service has been for several years, conducted by a volunteer choir, Mrs. Jones presiding at the piano.
